

PONY THROWS LITTLE MISS FRANCES POWELL AT BYRN MAWR SHOW

Mount Narrowly Misses Treading on Prostrate Figure of Its Rider After Fall at Board Fence

MAID ESCAPES IN JURY Shafts of Sunlight and Playing of the Band Give Touches of Color to Society Event

By a Staff Correspondent
BYRN MAWR, Pa., Oct. 2.—A spectacular fall, intermittent shafts of sunlight and the playing of the band this afternoon brought back the color which has been so sadly lacking at the Byrn Mawr horse show since rain caused a postponement of yesterday's program.

The pony narrowly missed treading on the prostrate figure of its rider, who was held on to the horse and gained her feet without assistance.

The afternoon attendance was good, society turning out well bundled up in furs and coats.

A unique touch was lent the horse show today, when the first card of Clydesdales was judged in the tent used to house the dog, during the hound show, which closed yesterday.

The huge bulk of the Clydesdales filled the little tent, causing many a gasp. A rift of blue sky raised false hopes, and the massive animals were taken out on to the green.

The hound show was concluded yesterday, the Radnor Hunt pack outclassing the other entries. The dogs won every prize offered for half-bred hounds, except one third ribbon, which went to the Watchung Hunt, of Plainfield, N. J.

POLICE TRY TO SOLVE MYSTERY IN DEATH OF MAN FOUND ON TRACKS

Decapitated Body of W. H. Fleming Discovered Near Iroquois, Pa.—Authorities Suspect Murder

Strong efforts are being made by the police to solve the mystery in the death of William H. Fleming, of 1336 Spruce street, a lecturer on Shakespeare, whose decapitated body was found on Thursday on the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Iroquois, Pa.

Mr. Fleming, who was 42 years old, was reported to be fairly well to do, and the theory has been advanced that he was murdered on a lonely road near Iroquois, which is 21 miles west of Harrisburg, by a gang of thugs, who threw the body on the tracks to conceal the exact place of the murder.

VICTIM ROBBED FIRST

Identification of the body was made through a tailor's label found in the trousers. These trousers were made by Louis Backe, 311 Ridge avenue, this city, who said today he remembered Mr. Fleming.

Facts Versus Fallacies

FACT is a real state of things. FALLACY is an apparently genuine but really illogical statement or argument.

MANY FALLACIES have been exploited by Prohibitionists to create the impression that Abraham Lincoln was an advocate of the impractical proposition of law placing a ban upon the use of liquors, when FACTS are to the contrary and point to the great Emancipator being a supporter of Temperance—in all things.

LINCOLN was himself a dealer in alcoholics. In Nicolay & Lincoln's history of the lamented President (vol. I, chap. 4) it is recorded: "By virtue of half a dozen signatures, Berry and Lincoln became proprietors of the only mercantile establishment in the village" (New Salem, Illinois).

"In the Spring of the next year, finding their merchandise gaining them little or nothing, they concluded to keep a tavern in addition to their other business, and the records of the company, according to Sangamon county, shows that Berry took out a license for that purpose on the 6th of March, 1833. A copy of the original license, which appears below, presents evidence which cannot be disputed:

"Springfield, Wednesday, March 6, 1833. Ordered that William F. Berry, in the name of Berry and Lincoln, have license to keep a tavern in New Salem, to continue 12 months from this date, and that they pay one dollar in addition to six dollars heretofore paid, as per Treasury receipt, and that they be allowed the following rates (viz.):

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes French Brandy, Apple Brandy, Domestic, Rum, Whiskey, Breakfast per night, Horse, per night, Breakfast, dinner and supper for stage passengers.

AND it is a further FACT, recorded in history, that in an address delivered FEBRUARY 22, 1842, before the Springfield Washingtonian Temperance Society, Lincoln said: "Too much denunciation against dram-sellers and dram-drinkers was indulged in. This, I think, was both impolitic and unjust."

THUS is shown the FACT that Lincoln did believe in the moderate use of liquor—and that he so thoroughly approved that he owned a tavern, where was dispensed alcoholic stimulants to others.
